

WIDEN CLEAN MEN FOR NEXT SUNDAY

Striking Laundry Workers
Make Concessions, but Not
Time to Get the Wash Out.

MAY GET RECOGNITION
Men Sacrifice Their Demands on Employers to Better Conditions of Hard Worked Women.

The last chance to get shirts and collars from the laundry before Sunday vanished last night. It may be possible to get some of them Sunday. The employing laundrymen and the striking workers got closer together yesterday than they have been since the strike began, and the only difference now holding them apart is the question of recognition of the union by the employers.

At a long meeting yesterday, which was continued last night, in a hall at 116th street and Lenox avenue, the employers discussed the situation. They came to no agreement before they adjourned until this morning, but there were signs of yielding, if not by their organization at least by some of its members.

Great hopes were centered on the conference of yesterday. It was the last day of this week, leaving sufficient time before next Sunday for the big steam laundries to wash the million of end-up linen in time for delivery before Sunday. Now that cannot be done.

Men who waited at the doors of yesterday's conferences were pessimists for ever hereafter on the subject of laundries and unions. They learned how a collar made of potato sack can go from the collar factory into one end of a laundry and after treatment with sulphuric and oxalic acid, chloride of lime, soap, starch and a hundred pound steam pressure, can be made to appear as the other end white, perfect as if made of four ply linen. It will last, they were assured, almost until its fortunate wearer perishes in it.

They also were advised that the laundry workers are third in numbers of the classified workers of the United States, and that of the 25,000 now on strike in this city two-thirds are women who have been laboring from sixty to seventy-five hours a week for wages of from $4 to $5. The laundry wagon drivers, whose working hours run to after midnight, have been receiving $14 a week.

Other men employees of the laundries east their own grievances into the background yesterday and agreed to continue under present conditions if the employers would reduce the working hours of the women and wagon drivers to a fifty hour week without raising the present rates of pay. The recognition of the laundry workers' union also was a peremptory demand. To all but the last the employers agreed.

M. J. Reagan, industrial mediator of the State Department of Labor, joined with the representatives of the New York Laundrymen's Association and of the International Laundry Workers' Union in the conference. Julius Langbehn, Benjamin S. Lewis, Louis Lowenstein, Julius Alexander, Morris Robinson and William Schacterman represented the employers' organization. William Armour, president of the local union, No. 126; Joseph Waters, Philip O'Brien and Leo Sigel represented the workers.

In a resolution adopted by the employers they announced that the laundry business in New York is demoralized, especially in that they receive less for their work than is paid elsewhere, that prices are not uniform and that the public pays less than elsewhere because of the battle for business among the small hand laundries.

Four men, charged with an attack upon the wagon of Frank Palladio, proprietor of the Liberty Steam Laundry, No. 233 East 166th street, were arrested at 106th street and Second avenue last night after the driver had been taken to the hospital in a clothing, bound for Palladio's Laundry, which he valued at $200, had been scattered over the street.

The Chinese laundrymen are prospering as never before.

PRAYER BOOKS HER MANIA.
Aged Woman Had 400, Stolen from Catholic Cathedral in Philadelphia.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Thursday.—Thefts of prayer books and rosary beads from the Catholic Cathedral have mystified the church authorities for a year. To-day John O'Neill, the sexton, noticed an aged woman carry off a rosary. He had her arrested.

The woman said she was Mrs. Annie Cooper, of No. 1243 Vine street. In her room were found more than four hundred prayer books and other articles stolen from the cathedral. Mrs. Cooper explained that she had an unquenchable desire to possess religious articles. She had not attempted to dispose of any of them. She will be examined as to her sanity.

GIVES REWARD FOR BABIES.
Mr. Carter Thought His Native Town
Was Being Depopulated.

WATERBURY, Conn., Thursday.—Loren R. Carter, of Waterbury, who is fond of his native town, Warren, where his grandfather left his plough to fight in the War of the Revolution, has been annoyed recently because Warren has been going to decay. No children have been born there for a long time. He once announced that for every child born there to David T. Strong, farmer, he would give $20. Since then there were two single, twins, and yesterday a single. All were generously bestowed as promised. Mr. Carter thinks Warren not as indifferent to enterprise as it seems.

SEEK BODY OF STRANGER.
Men Drag River Near Mrs. Van Rensselaer Cruger's Home.

POUGHKEEPSIE, Thursday.—A force of men in boats grappled to-day in the Hudson River off Cruger Island, opposite the home of Mrs. S. Van Rensselaer Cruger, society leader and novelist, near Tivoli, in search of the body of a man who either fell into the water in the darkness or leaped into the stream to end his life. Near the spot were found a handbag of good quality of leather and containing several gold articles, and nearby was an overcoat of fine texture. There was also a copy of Kipling's poems. On the fly leaf was written "Charles Fiero, No. 166 East Ninety-first street, New York City."

"Kimmel" Returns to Niles.
Niles, Mich., Thursday.—George A. Kimmel, the "Man of Mystery," returned to Niles to-night from a hospital at Peru, Ind., where he was taken after injuries recently received in a railroad wreck. He will be given a home by Edward Adams and his wife near Pokagon, seven miles north of here. Kimmel walked with the aid of a cane.

Church Strife Due to Labor Temple

Objection to Motion Pictures and Entertainments Results in the Withdrawal of the Rev. Charles Stelzle.

Controversy among leading Presbyterian clergymen over the management of the Labor Temple, Second avenue and Fourteenth street, has resulted in the Rev. Charles Stelzle, its founder and superintendent from its inception almost two years ago, withdrawing. In the future the temple will be managed by the Church Extension Committee of the Presbytery of New York rather than by the Board of Home Missions of the Presbyterian Church. A man has been invited to come to New York and take charge at a salary of $5,000. The Rev. Mr. Stelzle served with no extra pay. As the candidate has not yet accepted the call his name has not been made public.

It is by mutual consent that the Rev. Mr. Stelzle withdraws. While none of the clergymen opposed him personally, many objected to what they called "some of the extremes" adopted to draw the people. The chief objection is to motion picture shows on Sunday and the general tendency to make of the temple a social center and place of entertainment. Cases have been cited where, it is said, no prayer has been offered at a meeting. The Rev. Dr. Wilton Merle-Smith, pastor of Central Presbyterian Church, chairman of the Church Extension Committee, which last week bought the Labor Temple, is known to have been one of the students of some of the methods employed at the temple. Among those who have supported the Rev. Mr. Stelzle are Professor William Adams Brown, of Union Theological Seminary, vice president of the Extension Committee, and the Rev. Dr. Henry Sloane Coffin, pastor of Madison Avenue Presbyterian Church, also a professor in Union Theological Seminary.

When the Extension Committee takes charge, it is said, all modern pictures, unless of a strictly religious nature, will be abolished. More attention will be paid to preaching, and in time a regular church will be organized. The Rev. Mr. Stelzle will continue as superintendent of the Labor Department of the Presbyterian Board of Home Missions.

The Labor Temple until two years ago was the Fourteenth Street Presbyterian Church, then the congregation united with Thirteenth Street Presbyterian Church, near Sixth avenue. The Church Extension Committee rented the church at $10,000 a year in order to bring in the people of the lower east side.

Expected to Reach Indianapolis Monday to Testify in Dynamite Conspiracy.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Thursday.—Fearing an act of vengeance against Orrie E. McManigal, whose confession started the present dynamite investigations, federal Secret Service men who are bringing him from Los Angeles to testify before the Grand Jury here are concealing him, and it is not expected he will reach the city before Monday. McManigal had been looked for this evening, but his guards failed to appear.

McManigal is relied upon by the government to give testimony that will identify many of the men alleged to have been concerned in the dynamite plot of country-wide scope.

Oscar Lawler, special government prosecutor, remarked to-day in connection with the secrecy surrounding McManigal's journey—"All the suggestions are not yet dead or caught."

Half a dozen witnesses were before the Grand Jury to-day. Most of them are said to know the details of the explosion at Peoria, Ill., in 1910. They also were believed to be able to tell of the identity of persons whom McManigal says directed him to the points where dynamite was to be placed.

The network of the government's case, it was said, has thus far been laid, and within two or three days, from the office of John D. Fredericks, District Attorney of Los Angeles county, Cal., will be brought evidence concerning nearly one hundred of the explosions charged to the iron workers' union.

Mr. Fredericks will not testify before the Grand Jury, but will leave the work to some of his assistants.

"We gathered together," said Mr. Fredericks, "all the evidence in the United States and Canada which had any bearing on the dynamiting conspiracy. I think in most every instance there were violations of State laws as well as federal statutes."

Mr. Fredericks telegraphed to-day to Samuel L. Brown, chief detective at Los Angeles, that he would not take part in his controversy with William J. Burns over the rewards in the McNamara case.

Grand Jury in Los Angeles Takes Up Jury Riffing Case.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Thursday.—Six witnesses appeared to-day before the county Grand Jury on the first day of its investigation into the charges that the McNamara defense had attempted to bribe jurors.

I. H. Russell, secretary of the office of the McNamara attorneys, appeared first, and others were W. H. Lutz, auditor of the First National Bank, where the defense fund was placed; Mrs. Ann Hantenstein, stenographer in the McNamara attorneys' office; W. B. Collier, a detective for the defense; Mrs. J. E. Munsey and Alfred Goodrich, wife and stepson of the Salt Lake City labor leader recently indicted here by the Federal Grand Jury.

Clarence S. Darrow and John Harriman declare they have not been summoned.

TEXAS WARS ON LATE TRAINS.
Sues Fifteen Roads for $1,800,000
Penalties Under Law Regulating Schedules.

GALVESTON, Texas, Thursday.—Suits against fifteen Texas railroads have been filed by the State demanding penalties amounting to $1,800,000 for willful violations of the laws requiring passenger trains to be operated on schedule time or providing for extra trains when they are more than thirty minutes late at junction points. All of the trains mentioned in the suits were from three to twelve hours late, and all connections were missed.

HINES DECISION IS DELAYED.
Union League Club to Take Time in "Trial" of Mr. Lorimer's Friend.

CHICAGO, Ill., Thursday.—Several weeks may elapse before a decision is reached as to the fate of Edward Hines, lumberman, as a member of the Union League Club. It was learned to-day that the Board of Directors and the club officials, who have been taking evidence for two days on the charges brought against Mr. Hines that he acted in a manner unbecomingly suggestive of the club in connection with the election of William Lorimer to the United States Senate, have decided to take their time in reaching a decision.

The testimony both for and against Mr. Hines will be carefully read and studied before a vote is taken on the question of expelling him from membership in the club.

4 MEN DROWNED AS ICE BREAKS ICE

Two Others Are Rescued from the Contocook River, in Mussachusetts.

[SPECIAL DESPATCH TO THE HERALD.]
WINCHENDON, Mass., Thursday.—When the ice of the Contocook River gave way beneath their combined weight six boys on a coaster sled plunged into the water and four of them were drowned. The accident happened at East Jaffrey, ten miles upstream.

The dead boys, all of French-Canadian parentage, were Alpha Paradis, fourteen years old; Ernest Sadler, fifteen years old; Alfred Robichaud, ten years old, and Leon Choumard, seven years old. Thomas La Freniere and Raymond Bouvays, the other two, were taken from the water unconscious, but were rushed to physicians' houses and will recover.

The sled was a long one, and so large was the hole it tore in the ice that skaters near by were plunged into the water and others were compelled to flee as the danger zone widened.

Half a dozen persons on shore went to the rescue of the boys. Five of them had been riding on the sled and a sixth was pushing when the ice cracked.

JAIL FOR MAN WHO
"CUSSED" A PRESIDENT
South Carolina Duck Shooter, Sentenced for Contempt, Once "Called Down" Mr. Cleveland.

[SPECIAL DESPATCH TO THE HERALD.]
SPARTANBURG, S. C., Thursday.—Ball Calnes, a gunner and trapper, who was sentenced in the United States Circuit Court here last Friday to serve eight months for contempt of Court, has been taken to Georgetown to begin his term.

He had disobeyed an injunction against shooting on the game preserve of Bernard M. Baruch, of No. 6 West Fifty-second street, New York city. Judge Peter C. Pritchard shook hands with him as he left and said he regretted the necessity for sentencing him.

Calnes is a noted duck shooter and often was the companion of President Cleveland when the latter came to South Carolina. Calnes once "cussed" President Cleveland. The President had shot at ducks from one of his boats and then when they were flying away turned and shot at them from the other side, missing the whole flock.

As Mr. Cleveland shifted his avoirdupois Calnes aimed into the water and excitedly cried—"Damn you, quit rocking that boat!"

NEW WELL FOR MISS GOULD.
Seventy Gallons of Water a Minute
Now Available for Her Tarrytown Estate.

TARRYTOWN, N. Y., Thursday.—Miss Helen M. Gould has completed an artesian well four hundred feet deep which will furnish seventy gallons of water a minute. Miss Gould uses millions of gallons of water a year in her greenhouse, on the lawn and for use in her private swimming pool. Owing to the local dry spells in the last two years Miss Gould's superintendent has been handicapped in his work of beautifying the estate.

Miss Gould uses more water than any other individual in Tarrytown, and often she was unable to obtain a sufficient quantity from the public supply. With the new artesian well she will have ample water. The well is sunk in the east side of Broadway opposite Lindhurst.
